Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Comment Reasons:

Comment: I am writing as a local resident to strongly object to the proposed conversion of the former ambulance station into a religious place of worship in this core residential and quiet area. The site is located in a predominantly residential neighborhood with a nearby school, and the change of use is unfit for such a sensitive location. My objections are based on material planning considerations, including increased traffic, pollution, noise, and incompatibility with the surrounding area, as outlined below.

1. Increased Traffic and Highway Safety Concerns.

The conversion to a religious place would likely attract large gatherings, especially during services, events, or festivals, leading to a significant increase in vehicle traffic in this quiet residential street. This could result in congestion, inadequate parking, and safety risks for pedestrians, including schoolchildren from the nearby school. The area already has limited road capacity, and additional vehicles would exacerbate these issues, potentially causing accidents or blocking emergency access. This is contrary to local planning policies on sustainable transport and highway safety.

2. Noise and Disturbance

Religious activities often involve amplified sound systems, calls to prayer, group gatherings, and extended hours of operation, which would generate excessive noise in an otherwise peaceful residential zone. With a school nearby, this could disrupt the learning environment for children and disturb residents' quality of life, particularly during evenings or weekends. Such disturbances would harm the amenity of the area, violating policies aimed at protecting residential tranquility from noise nuisance.

4. Unfit for Change to Community/Religious Use and Impact on Area Character.

The site is in the heart of a quiet residential neighborhood, not suited for a community or religious facility that could draw crowds from outside the area. This change of use is incompatible with existing residential and educational surroundings, potentially altering the character of the locale from a calm, family-oriented space to one with commercial-like activity. It may also strain local infrastructure without providing benefits to the immediate community, contravening local plan policies on appropriate land use and preserving neighborhood identity.
