Comment: Here's a simple, personal, and heartfelt version of your message to the council, written in clear language and reflecting your own background:

Dear Sir/Madam,

My name is SFM, and I have lived in this area for almost 14 years. I am a young person who is soon to graduate, and this local area and community has been my home for most of my life. I am writing to show my full support for the planning application to build a local community centre, place of worship, and a hall that everyone can use.

This project means a lot to me and many others in the area. We need a safe, positive space where people of all ages can come together. A place like this would help bring the community closer, support families, and give young people somewhere to learn, grow, and stay away from negative influences. Being young in this era we have different challenges and a community groups events and socially empowering definitely answers many lives. I agree this is available for all faiths for use of halls events etc.,

The hall would also be a great benefit for the whole neighbourhood. It could be used for events, classes, gatherings, and activities that bring people together. It would give us a shared space that we currently don't have.

As someone who grew up here, I have seen how much young people need guidance, support, and a sense of belonging. This centre would provide that. It would help create a more united, peaceful, and supportive environment for everyone.

I kindly ask the council to approve this application. It will make a real difference to the community and to the future of young people like me.

Thank you for taking the time to read my letter.

Yours faithfully, SFM
