Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Comment Reasons:

Comment: St Johns Ambulance site has been had a very sedentary presence and had assumed a very important role once upon a time;

Over past few years, residential roads adjoining it became busier, and the Dorset road had to be permanently blocked towards the east forbidding pass-through traffic into Brasted road and residential estate.

Towards west, the junctions between Avenue Primary, Balmoral way, York road and Holland road become extremely busy during rush hours, partly because of school traffic and largely owing to high volume off traffic making its way towards A217 and also towards Northey avenue towards Ewell bypass.

By opening up a new source of frantic activity and sizeable traffic to this site in question, for several times a day, especially the holy months and also the daily multiple prayer timings, we are opening up a can of worms for residents, motorists and school children alike and making the whole situation extremely precarious.

Planning body needs to observe concerns around unnecessarily imperilling the lives of residents, road users and primary school students, and must uphold the fact that planning permissions cannot be awarded willy-nilly, more so when any place of worship is totally unwarranted and out-of-character for that residential enclave.

Allowing high volume footfall into the site in question drives coach and horses through the residential character of the place.

I drive through the stretch often, and have started avoiding driving past it owing to the utter chaos that already prevails there; I cannot imagine the pandemonium that will ensue when we have surge in traffic if this planning permission was to be approved, God forbid.

Importantly, there are several places of worship/community centres in the vicinity for the said faith, which serve precisely same purpose.

The drawbacks of the proposal far outweigh its merits.

Hoping that council's rejection to this planning permission will underscore the fact that it takes welfare of its residents and primary school students at the core of its ethos.

Lastly, and importantly, many of the comments for supporting this application have out-of-borough addresses and post codes; clearly a lot of support is being gathered beyond confines of Sutton, and those votes of support should be disregarded, as it does not pertain them directly.
