Comment Reasons:

Comment: I am a medical student who lives on York Road, a 5 minute walk away from the location. I strongly support planning application DM2025/01591.

Isolation is one of the biggest public health challenges we face, particularly for elderly residents and new parents. A local community hub with wellbeing programmes and social activities is a direct, practical response to that challenge. The centre is open to everyone, not just one faith group, helping foster a real sense of community.

I understand there have been concerns about parking and busy school times however there is no overlap between Friday prayer times and the school run at Avenue Primary Academy. Prayers are at midday; the school run is morning and mid-afternoon. In terms of parking, the removal of the existing keep-clear lines will actually increase the amount of on-street parking available to residents. There are 269 on-street spaces and even under the worst-case Friday peak, over 60 spaces would still be available. That is well within acceptable limits.

The application includes dedicated cycle storage and the travel data shows that most users will arrive on foot or by shared transport. Myself along with my family are all planning to walk to the centre. This is a great way to boost sustainability and is in line with NHS health coaching and social prescribing guidelines.

The educational programmes, wellbeing sessions, and interfaith events that will be hosted at the centre are designed to bring different parts of the community together and support the next generation. Therefore I would really encourage the Borough to grant planning permission and help bring this beautiful project to life.
