Comment Reasons:

Comment: While places of worship are important community assets, this proposal does not appear to promote wellbeing for the wider community as a whole. The benefits are largely directed toward a specific user group, whereas the negative externalities particularly traffic congestion, limited parking capacity, and potential noise on peak prayer days would be borne by all local residents.

The site and surrounding streets already have objectively limited parking provision. On high-attendance days, this is likely to result in overspill parking, congestion, and increased noise levels, which may adversely affect residential amenity.

In line with the National Planning Policy Framework's emphasis on creating inclusive, well functioning communities, further clarification is needed as to how these impacts will be mitigated.
