Comment Reasons:

Comment: The parking issue is impossible to solve in a general way but when parents are picking up their children impossible. This is not a suitable site for the number of people expecting to use this building. Residents who want to arrive or leave their property around times of arrival and departure would find it almost impossible to do. A site must be found with a huge number of parking spaces within the grounds of the building and with nearby roads with lots of parking space which is not the case for the roads near this building.
